

Wright State University
Student Teaching Evaluation Form
Social Studies Contract

(Developed from the Curriculum Standards for Social Studies by the National Council for the Social Studies ©1994)

- E- Exemplary Level- There is clear, convincing evidence demonstrated in this area.
S- Satisfactory Level- There is clear evidence demonstrated in this area.
U- Unsatisfactory Level- There is limited, or little, or no evidence demonstrated in this area.

This form is to be completed by the cooperating teacher and the university supervisor.
 Please check the appropriate level after each theme. (E,S,U) Students must be performing at the Satisfactory or Exemplary Level to pass student teaching.

Student Name _____ Date _____

Cooperating Teacher			NCSS Theme I and Description	University Supervisor
Theme I Culture			Teachers of social studies at all school levels should provide developmentally appropriate experiences as they guide learners in the study of culture and culture diversity .	Theme I Culture
E	S	U	Description: The study of culture prepares students to answer questions such as: What are the common characteristics of different cultures? How do belief systems, such as religion or political ideals, influence other parts of culture? How does the culture change to accommodate different ideas and beliefs? What does language tell us about culture? In schools, this theme typically appears in units and courses dealing with geography, history, sociology, and anthropology, as well as multicultural topics across the curriculum.	E	S	U

Comments _____

Cooperating Teacher			NCSS Theme II and Description	University Supervisor
Theme II Time, Continuity, and Change			Teachers of social studies at all school levels should provide developmentally appropriate experiences as they guide learners in the study of time continuity and change .	Theme II Time, Continuity, and Change
E	S	U	Description: Human beings seek to understand their historical roots and to locate themselves in time. Knowing how to read and reconstruct the past allows one to develop an historical perspective and to answer questions such as: Who am I? What happened in the past? How am I connected to those in the past? How has the world changed and how might it change in the future? Why does our personal sense of relatedness to the past change? This theme typically appears in courses in history and others that draw upon historical knowledge and habits.	E	S	U

Comments _____

Cooperating Teacher			NCSS Theme III and Description	University Supervisor
Theme III People, Places and Environments			Teachers of social studies at all school levels should provide developmentally appropriate experiences as they guide learners in the study of people, places and environments .	Theme III People, Places and Environments
E	S	U	Description: The study of people, places, and human-environment interactions assists students as they create spatial views and geographic perspectives of the world beyond their personal locations. Students need the knowledge, skills, and understanding questions such as: Where are things located? Why are they located? Why are they located where they are? What do we mean by “region”? How do landforms change? What implications do these changes have for people? In schools, this theme typically appears in units and courses dealing with area studies and geography.	E	S	U

Comments _____

Cooperating Teacher			NCSS Theme IV and Description	University Supervisor
Theme IV Individual Development and Identity			Teachers of social studies at all school levels should provide developmentally appropriate experiences as they guide learners in the study of individual human development and identity .	Theme IV Individual Development and Identity
E	S	U	Description: Personal identity is shaped by one’s culture, by groups, and by institutional influences. Students should consider such questions as: How do people learn? Why do people behave as they do? What influences how people learn, perceive, and grow? How do people meet their basic needs in a variety of contexts? How do individuals develop from youth to adulthood? In schools, this theme typically appears in units and courses dealing with psychology and anthropology.	E	S	U

Comments _____

Cooperating Teacher			NCSS Theme V and Description	University Supervisor
Theme V Individuals, Groups, and Institutions			Teachers of social studies at all school levels should provide developmentally appropriate experiences as they guide learners in the study of interactions among individuals, groups, and institutions .	Theme V Individuals, Groups, and Institutions
E	S	U	Description: Institutions such as schools, churches, families, government agencies, and the courts play an integral role in people’s lives. It is important that students learn how institutions are formed, what controls and influences them, how they influence individuals and culture, and how they are maintained or changed. Students may address questions such as: What is the role of institutions in this and other societies? How am I influenced by institutions? How do institutions change? What is my role in institutional change? In schools, this theme typically appears in units or courses dealing with sociology, anthropology, psychology, political science, and history.	E	S	U

Comments _____

Cooperating	NCSS Theme VI and Description	University
-------------	-------------------------------	------------

Teacher				Supervisor
Theme VI Power, Authority, and Governance			Teachers of social studies at all school levels should provide developmentally appropriate experiences as they guide learners in the study of power, authority and governance .	Theme VI Power, Authority, and Governance
E	S	U	Description: Understanding the historical development of structures of power, authority, and governance and their evolving functions in contemporary U.S. society and other parts of the world is essential for developing civic competence. In exploring this theme, students confront questions such as: What is power? What forms does it take? Who holds it? How is it gained, used, and justified? What is legitimate authority? How are governments created, structured, maintained, and changed? How can individual's rights be protected within the context of majority rule? In schools, this theme typically appears in units or courses dealing with government, politics, political science, history, law, and other social sciences.	E	S	U

Comments _____

Cooperating Teacher			NCSS Theme VII and Description	University Supervisor
Theme VII Production, Distribution, and Consumption			Teachers of social studies at all school levels should provide developmentally appropriate experiences as they guide learners in the study of how people organize for the production, distribution, and consumption of goods and services .	Theme VII Production, Distribution, and Consumption
E	S	U	Description: Because people have wants that often exceed the resources available to them, a variety of ways have evolved to answer such questions as: What is to be produced? How is production to be organized? How are goods and services to be distributed? What is the most effective allocation of the factors to be produced (land, labor, capital, and management)? In schools, this theme typically appears in units or courses dealing with economic concepts and issues.	E	S	U

Comments _____

Cooperating Teacher			NCSS Theme VIII and Description	University Supervisor
Theme VIII Science, Technology, and Society			Teachers of social studies at all school levels should provide developmentally appropriate experiences as they guide learners in the study of science and technology .	Theme VIII Science, Technology, and Society
E	S	U	Description: Modern life as we know it would be impossible without technology and the science that supports it. But technology brings with it many questions: Is new technology always better than old? What can we learn from the past about how new technologies result in broader social change, some which is unanticipated? How can we cope with the ever-increasing pace of change? How can we manage technology so that the greatest number of people benefit from it? How can we preserve our fundamental values and beliefs in the midst of technological change? This theme draws upon the natural and physical sciences and the humanities, and appears in a variety of social studies courses, including history, geography, economics, civics, and government.	E	S	U

Comments _____

Cooperating			NCSS Theme IX and Description	University
-------------	--	--	--------------------------------------	------------	--	--

Teacher				Supervisor
Theme IX Global Connections			Teachers of social studies at all school levels should provide developmentally appropriate experiences as they guide learners in the study of global connections and interdependence .	Theme IX Global Connections
E	S	U	Description: The realities of global interdependence require understanding the increasingly important and diverse global connections among world societies and the frequent tension between notional interests and global priorities. Students will need to be able to address such International issues as health care, the environment, human rights, economic competition, and interdependence, age-old ethnic enmities, and political and military alliances. This theme typically appears in units in courses dealing with geography, culture, and economics, but may also draw upon the natural and physical sciences and the humanities.	E	S	U

Comments _____

Cooperating Teacher			NCSS Theme X and Description	University Supervisor
Theme X Civic Ideals and Practices			Teachers of social studies at all school levels should provide developmentally appropriate experiences as they guide learners in the study of civic ideals and practices .	Theme X Civic Ideals and Practices
E	S	U	Description: An understanding of civic ideals and practices of citizenship is critical to full participation in society and is a central purpose of the social studies. Students confront such questions as: What is civic participation and how can I be involved? How has the meaning of citizenship evolved? What is the role of the citizen in the community and the nation, and as a member of the world community? How can I make a positive difference? In schools, this theme typically appears in units or courses dealing with history, political science, cultural anthropology, and fields such as global studies, law-related education, and the humanities.	E	S	U

Comments _____

University Supervisor's Signature Date

Cooperating Teacher's Signature Date